

CORE-CM SEMINAR
Michigan State University

Pamela Silver
Harvard Medical School
Department of Systems Biology

Designing Biology for Health and Sustainability

We seek to use the power of biology to solve problems in the health of people and the planet. Biology offers the best chemistry in terms of diversity and sustainability. We have designed cells that can sense chemicals and act as therapeutics, a bionic leaf that interfaces biology with electrocatalysts, and a nanocompartment that provides a platform for intracellular biochemistry.

Thursday, September 15, 2016
12:00 NOON
Room 1400 – Biomedical & Physical Sciences